REFUGEES from East Germany poured into West Berlin in September, bringing a month compared with 8,684 for the same period a year ago, official figures disclose...

Earl Lloyd George, whose family motto is "truth against the world," was chided by the British press for telling the truth about the remarkable love life of his remarkable father.

LLOYD GEORGE

...a Don Juan. The son wrote that even in his 60's his father ran a kind of harem at his country home which was staffed with "gallant and giggling girls."

The 150th annual Fall festival in Munich—devoted to Bavaria's favorite pastime, eating and drinking—was a huge success and one of the most peaceful with ONLY 150 fights reported. During the 16-day binge, five million visitors washed down about 300,000 fried chickens and 700,000 pork sausages with more than three million quarts of beer...

Across The Nation

IN SPARTANSBURG, S. C., Democrats called a rally of the faithful in Zion Hill precinct. Of the 200 registered Democrats, only Mr. and Mrs. Jim Casey showed up. They adopted a resolution pledging the precinct's support to the Democratic ticket; passed the collection plate to each other and raised $2.40 for the party; went home, commenting how easy it would be for "an alien group" to take over their precinct.

During a recent campaign swing in New York, Sen. Lyndon Johnson gave orders that only medium-priced cars were to be used in his motorcade. Aides sent back a fleet of Cadillacs a car rental agency delivered. This paved the way for Johnson to use one of his favorite quips: "The Republicans had only one Lincoln, but they have lots of Cadillacs..."

Johnson Dulles

In Michigan, Col. James Kelleys, a Navy Reservist, is running for Congress on a platform of "Allen Dulles must go." Kelleys is hero of the underground which liberated Greece in World War II; also, he operated in China behind Communist lines; he was on loan to Central Intelligence Agency for 10 years, was acting chief of operations at one point. Now, he says CIA has "gone soft" under Dulles. But he's running for Congress in a silk-stocking district against GOP Rep. William S. Brownfield and odds are against him.

Miscellaneous

EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM on the UN General Assembly: "It almost reminds me of what the Book of Revelations says—that at the end of the world there will be a gathering of the kings of the earth"...

TEAMSTERS' President James Hoffa, saying he probably would invoke the Fifth Amendment if called before Senate investigators again: "It's just too risky to sit there and gamble with perjury when you guess on loaded questions."

DEFENSE ATTORNEY Grant Cooper, summing up his case in the Los Angeles murder retrial of Dr. R. Bernard

Today's Best Laugh

"Would you mind turning ON your porch light? We're playing," a small boy told Harold Ogden who often grants such a request to the small boy playing evenings in the courtyard of his Dallas apartment. Ogden complied. A few minutes later, a little girl rang his doorbell. "Would you mind turning OFF your porch light?" she asked. "We're playing."

Finch and Carole Tregoff: "I realize this argument is deadly dull—not like Perry Mason at all. But you have to go through these things with a fine tooth comb."

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY Prof. Charles A. Seipmann castigating Americans for their failure to shape up to current world dangers: "We can't afford to let three I's dominate our way of life; that is, ignorance, indifference, and inertia."
